Bike fitting followed by Bogota 'Ciclovía' city ride and welcome dinner.
Passengers on our Avianca group flight will have flown overnight and arrive today in the early hours of the morning. There will be time for a few hours rest and breakfast before setting out with the tour leader in order to try out your bike and cycle the car-free streets of Bogota as part of the weekly 'ciclovía' event. Every Sunday large parts of the city are closed to traffic as residents cycle, jog, walk, roller-skate in a remarkable display of utilising public space in the interest of leisure and togetherness. You'll have a chance to see the modern Bogota and also visit a market in the bohemian neighborhood of Usaquen. This immediate exercise is a great way to minimise the effects of jetlag! DAY 4

Destination	Buga [Bicycle] Roldanillo
Meals included	Breakfast, Dinner
Accommodation	N/A

Mostly flat ride following the Cauca River to Roldanillo.

Buga is one of the oldest settlements in the region and an important religious place for the country as pilgrims flock to visit the Basilica which contains an image of Christ. Buga is surrounded by sugar cane fields and is located in close vicinity of the Cauca River. The tour starts out travelling in a northward direction, staying parallel to the Cauca River as we pass fields of sugar cane and fruit trees. Along the route we will stop to visit a sugar cane farm. The vast majority of today's road is fairly flat or with small undulations, and the route is very scenic thanks to the proximity of the Andean Western Cordillera and the possibility to see peaks of the Central Cordillera on a clear day. The temperature in the valley can get very high so be sure to wear sun cream and stay hydrated. Our destination is the town of Roldanillo and we will spend the night at a hotel just off the main plaza.

Destination Montenegro [Bicycle] Rio Verde [Bicycle] Calarcá

Meals included Breakfast, Dinner

Accommodation N/A

Some challenging climbs with rewarding views and coffee tasting on the way to Calarcá via Rio Verde. Today we start riding on a fairly flat road surrounded by coffee, banana and pineapple plantations to the town of La Tebaida. After passing this town, we'll stop for a drink break and ride for a short section on a busier route. At a point called 'La Y' we will deviate and take a secondary road to enjoy a nice downhill to Rio Verde and then continue onwards to the town of Buenavista. From Rio Verde there is a challenging steep uphill of about 4km to get to Buenavista - this is the hardest climb of the tour but very rewarding. We stop to have lunch in the town of Buenavista, and then there will be an opportunity to try one of the region's best exported coffee brands at a wonderful terrace with a beautiful view. After the break, there is still some climbing to be done but after reaching the top it will all be downhill back to Rio Verde on a different road. From Rio Verde, you will take the same road previously ridden to the hotel for the night.

There is a steady climb after crossing the river all the way up to Boquia (near Salento), and we may encounter some traffic. Our first stop will be at the Quindío Botanic Gardens where we will learn about the local flora and also visit a butterfly farm. Afterwards we will have a coffee experience tour at Finca La Pradera and have a chance to learn about the process of growing coffee. We have I here before we ride the last portion of the route involving a very scenic final downhill to Boquia. The finca for the next two nights is beautifully situated and is a peaceful place for us to be based. After dinner some kids from the area will give a folklore performance.

Gentle ride along the Cauca River before a climb to Anserma.

Our penultimate day of cycling has it all. We start off gently with a fun downhill section leading to the Cauca River from where our route plateaus out as we are flanked on both sides by sugar cane fields. After lunch at a roadside restaurant with an adjoining tilapia farm, we follow a branch of the river northwards (Rio Risaralda). As the road becomes steeper and offers up spectacular views on our final climb into the highland town of Anserma. The town's location on the edge of a mountain makes it completely different from other places seen on the tour, and several of the streets are too steep to be cycled so it lends itself to being explored on foot in order to get the maximum enjoyment! We will have dinner at a local restaurant and there are a couple of nearby bars to explore afterwards.

TOUR ITINERARY

Activity Level: 5 (Challenging).

Average daily distance: 54km (33 miles)

Number of days cycling: 10

Vehicle Support: 100%

Terrain and route: surface 95% tarmac, 5% unpaved roads, hilly terrain. Routes follow mainly quiet back roads with some challenging climbs.

Total distance covered is approx. 540km taking an estimated distance for the ciclovía and including the optional ride in Cocora Valley on day 9. You will be provided with a cycle computer to record your daily distances each day - please take good care of these on all of your drinks stops as there may be a fee to replace any lost units.

This tour covers some remote and lesser visited parts of the region where international tourism is yet to reach. As a result we are unlikely to encounter many other foreign nationalities and can expect a fully immersive Colombian experience. The vast majority of the roads that we use are in very good condition, although there can occasionally be potholes and poorer conditions in some short sections. The roads are generally free of heavy traffic until we reach small towns where we are more likely to encounter other vehicles. Some of the routes that we take are the same as those used on the 'Vuelta a Colombia' annual cycling race.

The trip is graded as challenging and most days involve some difficult climbs. The first couple of rides from Buga and Roldanillo are fairly flat as they follow the length of a valley, in the later rides we tackle some more challenging ascents, with the hardest being the climb to Buenavista on day 7. You need a good level of fitness in order to complete all of the rides but don't be put off by the grading as the rides are completely achievable. The beautiful surroundings and incredibly supportive team make the rides easier!

Legal Note: all group members joining this tour will be asked to sign an indemnity form at the start of the holiday. This indemnity form is a legal requirement by the tourism authorities in Colombia. As a client of Exodus Travels Ltd, your rights under the Package Travel Regulations (1992) are unaffected, and Exodus remains liable for the actions of our sub-contractors.
