DAY 6

Destination	 Antarctica
Meals included	Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner
Cruise	MS Roald Amundsen, or similar

Welcome to one of the most remote areas on Earth!

There have been spectacular photo opportunities so far, but Antarctica is in an entirely different category. Go ashore by Zodiac boat to explore the breathtaking Antarctic scenery and get close to penguins and seals. You will feel like a real explorer from the moment you set foot on the endless expanse of snow and ice and from the deck there will be ample opportunities to see whales.

Over the next six days we'll be making various landings in different locations throughout the peninsula. Enjoy close encounters with wildlife and glaciers, and visit old whaling stations and its relics. Trust us when we say that every second of this journey has something new to offer.

One of the highlights of the South Shetlands is Deception Island. When we sail into the natural harbor of this volcanic island, you will see an abandoned whaling station known as Hektor and a derelict British base.

Over the course of the next few days we'll also visit Wilhelmina Bay, Paradise Harbor and other remote locations. Join gatherings where the various members of the expedition team recount the day's activities, make presentations, and discuss the next day's plan. These gatherings are great opportunities to share experiences and mingle with your fellow explorers.

DAY 12

Destination	 Drake Passage
Meals included	Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner
Cruise	MS Roald Amundsen, or similar

Today is another day at sea as your ship makes it way back to the Falkland Islands. Relax and enjoy your ship's facilities, or join one of the lectures conducted throughout the day.

DAY 13

Destination	 Falkland Islands
Meals included	Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner
Cruise	MS Roald Amundsen, or similar

The remote Falkland Islands archipelago is split between the two main islands: East and West Falkland, and nearly 800 smaller islands. For many years, both the United Kingdom and Argentina have claimed sovereignty over the islands.

Your three days of exploration here, along with each day's landing sites, will be determined by local weather conditions at the time. After the barren, white scenery of Antarctica, it may be reassuring to see grassy hills, blooming wildflowers, stunning white-sand beaches and turquoise waters! It won't be too different, though, especially since several thousand penguins will be there for you to catch sight of, too! These few days will entail an attempt to view these penguin colonies, which often have families of fur seals sprinkled in among them. We will keep a safe distance, of course, in order not to disturb them or their tuxedoed neighbors.

For the first time in more than a week, you'll spot signs of civilization in the family-owned farms scattered along the island, and in the capital of Stanley on East Falkland, where 80% of the islands' population live. When you visit, you'll find that the town is a slice of typical English life. Watch for the iconic red buses and phone booths, and of course the typical old pubs serving up British beer and friendly banter.
